Best lock for apps android. Which is the best app lock. World best fingerprint lock app for android. Which is the best app lock app.

According to the latest statistics, more than 2.5 billion people use Android. It's the most used operating system in the world. There is even a community of Android fans on Quora with nearly 99 thousand members, the number still growing. Because of its popularity, you can find many apps on Google Play Store available for the Android system, no matter which model of smartphone you use. One of the most popular categories users choose is productivity, into which note-taking apps fall as a subcategory. This type of application helps to keep the ideas when your head can't, especially, if you don't have a piece of paper within reach. With a smartphone, you can put your notes in the pocket and carry them with you wherever you go. Try TimeCamp - 100% free time tracking app! Sign up! What Are The Best Free Note Taking Apps for Android? There are many notes apps available for Android. Some are dedicated to making simple notes whereas others have extensive features that let you create powerful lists and reports. To help you choose the ideal app for you, here's the list of the best note-taking apps. I've downloaded them all on my Android system and tested myself. Whether you look for a simple app or an all-inclusive tool, there's something of interest for everyone. The little helping arrow => will show you who are the apps best for. 1. Google Keep Notes => Best note-taking tool compatible with Google apps => Play Store Editors' Choice Google Keep is one of the most popular note-taking apps for Android. It lets you capture ideas and thoughts with text, lists, images, and audio. You can create notes, lists, and draw or keep your notes in a handwritten form. Colors and #labels let you easily spot what you're looking for, and search option saves time so you don't have to scroll down your list. Dark and light themes enable you to personalize the interface. All your notes are adjustable: Add title Pin your note Set a reminder and choose if you want to repeat it Take a photo - it will automatically appear in your note Add image Make a drawing Record - you can dictate your thoughts. Keep will transcribe them for you Add checkboxes to create a to-do list Make a copy of your note Add a collaborator to work together on ideas Print note You can also quickly archive or delete content that is no longer needed. Use "Ok Google" voice commands to "take a note" or "add to to-do list". Google Notes is a simple app with all the basic features you need to make a good note on the go, far away from your office or home. It easily synchronizes with other Google services which makes it comfortable to work across different apps and devices. And you can easily and quickly access and share notes via email, text message, copy them to Google Docs or Google Drive, or send them to any other app. 2. Simplenote => Best for quick and simple capturing of ideas Simplenote, as the name suggests, is a simple app for taking notes. If you're looking for a handy and transparent tool without fancy functionalities, Simplenote is the perfect fit for you. You simply write down what's on your mind and voila! it's done. The only extra features you'll find include search, pinning important notes, and checklist. Also, tags help to organize thoughts but you can add an email address as a tag to share notes with people or do it with other Android apps. With the history of your note you can check when it was created, modified, how many words and characters it counts. Themes are available to customize user experience - light, dark, or dark at night only to protect your eyes. If you delete notes, they go to trash but you can restore them, or empty the trash to completely get rid of them forever. Simplenote lets you access your notes on the web and your other devices so you can always keep your ideas close to you. 3. ColorNote Notepad Notes => Best as a sticky note app => Play Store Editors' Choice ColorNote is a simple notepad app with multiple useful features. You can use it to write notes, memos, e-mails, messages, shopping lists, and to-do lists. It works as a simple word processing program and gives you the flexibility to type in whatever you need. In the calendar, you can organize the schedule by notes in the calendar. ColorNote lets you create checklists to get things done (GTD), lists of things to do, and shopping lists. Additionally, you can search the Web or Amazon for items on your list. So if you created a shopping list, you will have your items delivered straight to your door! To always keep important information at hand, you can add notes to your home screen and adjust their size with the sticky note memo widget. Other adjustable functionalities include colors, theme, a lunar date for the calendar, notes search, list and grid views, task reminders, and notepad support of ColorDict Add-on (search for words in Wikipedia, Wordnet and StarDict dictionaries). To keep your thoughts and ideas safe, you can protect notes with a passcode. There's also secured backup notes to SD storage, and online backup and sync to synchronize notes between phone and tablet. In ColorNote, your text can be sent to any app, as an attachment or printed. 4. Material Notes => Best for minimalist note-takers Material Notes is a simple app with minimalistic features. If you're looking for a tool that doesn't require much of your attention, Material Notes is the right choice. First of all, it has a pleasant and intuitive interface so using the app is an enjoyable experience. Secondly, it has only the most necessary features: Bright and deep colors help to visualize your ideas Create notes and to-do lists Star your favorite or most important notes Use colors for easy scanability Custom font, theme Create widgets and place at your home screen for quick access Export and import notes from and to other apps and devices Lock your content with 4 digit PIN Material Notes is most suitable for those who want a straightforward and transparent note-taking app. 5. Evernote => Best for organizing and planning work => Play Store Editors' Choice Evernote is one of the most popular and widely used tools for organizing and planning. To use it, first, you need to sign up. Whether you need it to make arrangements for work or personal tasks, Evernote is a powerful app that will help you organize everything. It's best for teams as it allows for full collaboration and in-app chatting. You can quickly capture any thought with a camera and organize it with labels and notebooks to later easily find it in search. The main features include the following: Taking a quick note from your notification bar without launching the app Save webpages by sharing it to Evernote with the Webclipper Set up a passcode with 4-digit code to protect your content Invite friends and team members to collaborate Take pictures and save them in different formats Rich functionalities inside a note - you can format your text however you like with bullet list, highlight, upper script, and more Add a voice message, set dates, attach files photos, videos, audio, handwrite However, for more advanced features, you need to subscribe to a paid plan. In the free version, you can use only 2 devices, have 60 MB of transfer per month, 25 MB per note, and you don't have access to notebooks offline, and can't use all functionalities. Check out TimeCamp integration with Evernote! 6. Microsoft OneNote => Robust app, best for saving and organizing ideas in a team => Play Store Editors' Choice Microsoft OneNote lets you take notes on your phone and sync them across all your devices for a smooth workflow in Microsoft tools. It's a powerful tool that enables you to do anything you want with your content. You can draw, add notes, create memos, journal, add sticky notes. All content can be personalized - bold text, italics, strikethrough lists, link, files, and photo attachments. And colors enable faster search and organization of ideas. Moreover, OneNote badge (which you add to the homescreen) lets you quickly capture your ideas and you can hide it when you don't need it. Use OneNote for work or personal tasks. Share your ideas with others, and collaborate with team members. OneNote lets you do it all for free the way you need and like. 7. Notepad Free => Best for simple note taking Notepad Free is one of the highest-rated note-taking apps for Android. Proofhub ProofHub is an all-in-one project management and collaboration software with note-taking being one of the core features. The notes section in ProofHub is a shared space where teams can easily jot down every essential piece of information related to a project or anything else that is important to your work process. ProofHub notes consist of different headings, fonts, bullet points, numberings, and other attributes to help you create the most comprehensive knowledge base for your team. You can even create different notebooks to store topic-specific information to organize your notes according to your requirements. With the help of these notes, it gets easier for teams to keep a record of their daily minutes of meetings, create wikis, and save all of their ideas securely in one place so that they never miss out on anything important. The best thing about notes in ProofHub is that you can easily share them with your team members and let them make contributions to the same. You can even add pictures and attach files to your notes. Being an easy-to-use note-taking app, ProofHub lets you create notes for almost anything. You can assign a specific color to different notes to make them easily identifiable. Moreover, you can add comments, insert hyperlinks, edit your notes whenever and however you want, and invite anyone to collaborate on the notes. Also, everything you add to ProofHub notes syncs across all your devices so that your important stuff is always there with you. To Wrap It Up Note-taking apps offer a great possibility to store and secure your ideas. You can always have them at hand and quickly access them. It's tempting to use many Android note taking apps because they are fancy and spice up your user experience. However, it's easy to get lost so choose one app that meets your needs and helps you organize ideas effectively. Happy note taking! Try 100% free time tracking app for unlimited users! Try TimeCamp
